

Gary Lee Scott (UK)

Buddhist name: Samprinana (He who gladdens and delights)

Pronunciation: sa.mpr̥ii.nana

Pronouns: he/him

Ordained in 2022

Samprinana joined the Amida Order in December 2022. He has been a Buddhist since 2009, when he became a mitra with the Triratna Buddhist community. After searching for the 'right fit' in terms of practice and teaching he found his karmic home with the Nembutsu and Amida Buddhism in early 2020. His primary interest is the teachings of Honen Shonin and Jodo Shu Buddhism.

Samprinana is currently a member of Amida Gana (The Board of Trustees for the Order) and a Tutor on the Introduction to Pure Land Buddhism course.

Professionally, he trained as a Podiatrist and then moved into NHS management before becoming a freelance project manager and consultant working mainly in the charity and voluntary sectors.

He is married to Ginny and has two adult children; Emerson and Esme. He lives in East Anglia (although he's originally from Greater Manchester).
